

INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE

The SCC has members in:

Australia, Bermuda, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Great Britain, Greece, India, Israel, Luxembourg, Macedonia, New Zealand, Panama, Portugal, Puerto Rico, Romania, South Africa, Spain, Thailand & the United States.

To assist members practicing outside the US, the SCC has created an International Committee.

Its goals include:

- ♦ Identifying and supporting healthcare providers across the globe in the clinical application of cannabis as medicine.
- ♦ Exchanging information across borders to share new research developments and clinical practices from a diverse array of experts.
- ♦ Providing clinical evidence to regulatory agencies & the World Health Organization.

We welcome physicians and allied professionals using medical cannabis in patient care to become members.

ABOUT US

The Society of Cannabis Clinicians (SCC) is a nonprofit professional association of physicians and other healthcare providers dedicated to advancing research and disseminating knowledge about cannabis for medical use. We promote best practices in clinical care.

The SCC was founded in 1999 by Tod Mikuriya, MD, as the California Cannabis Research Medical Group. SCC physicians have been monitoring cannabis use by patients ever since and have compiled a wealth of clinical evidence and treatment strategies that provide the foundation for rigorous clinical trials.

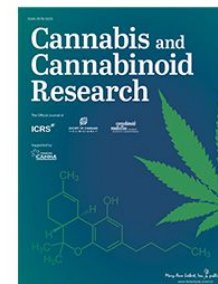

OUR GOALS

- ◆ Share clinical observations and findings with colleagues and patients.
- ◆ Develop and promote best practice standards for cannabis consultations.
- ◆ Evaluate and recommend policies relating to cannabis research, production, and safety.
- ◆ Enable and encourage medical graduates and healthcare professionals to discuss cannabis as a treatment option with patients.
- ◆ Defend and expand physicians' rights to practice cannabis-based medicine.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

- ◆ Listing on the online Physician Directory and Locator Map.
